THE END

ABOUT THE BOOK

"Objection My Lord" is a phrase often used in court. This book covers all the nitty-gritty for one to practice law in the best and legal way possible within limits of good conduct and professionalism. Charles Dickens in "The Old Curiosity Shop" has spoken this of lawyers, "If there were no bad people, there would be no good lawyers." I have already listed how the good lawyers conduct themselves in my former book, "Professional Malpractice In Uganda"; this book will thence equip the reader with the practical tools of the legal profession, making them grasp these basic skills in addition to mastering legal professionalism.

This is a package to my Learned Friends, to know the must know and learn to practice within the legal limits and more so, discover the legal exceptions and present such in a legal manner; to distinguish precedents tactically and persuade intellectually where no such exist. It is a summary of legal principles requisite for one to properly establish their case before court. This book is a one stop masterpiece for a reader to grasp the other more practical duties of a lawyer apart from litigation and drawing deeds. By training consistency yet with honest dealings, this book navigates along the professional to the moral and most practical situations encountered by a lawyer while furnishing one with the gist and nothing less. It is a training for every "officer of court" to make use of their greatest tool "the tongue" to not only persuade but also assist court and the state in ensuring justice.

Be blessed to find all you seek and be gifted a package, so much more than you expect in this book.
